SKYLAND GRAIN LAUNCHES NEW MOBILE APP

App puts harvest in grower's hands with real-time scale tickets, contracts, markets, and more

JOHNSON, KS – Skyland Grain, LLC announced today the release of its new Skyland Grain mobile app.

The free mobile app allows producers easy access to real-time information including electronic scale tickets, contracts pre-pays, price-laters and cash bids. The app integrates with TraxView, an accounting software from AgTrax.

“This app seamlessly connects us directly to our producers and puts the power in their hands—with the ability to make decisions on-the-go with information they need from our elevators and the industry,” said David Cron, CEO, Skyland Grain, LLC.

With the Skyland Grain app you can:

- View scale tickets
- Receive bids
- Track contracts
- Monitor markets
- Check pre-paid amounts
- Check local weather
- Read ag-related news

“We understand the success of our producers is a key contributor to our success,” added Cron. “Our tradition of service drives us to find better ways to serve our producers meet the challenges of global agriculture—this is one of those ways.”

Skyland Grain's app is powered by Bushel—the grain industry's first automated mobile app platform with its application programming interface (API) and translator, intuitive design, robust features and best available security.

The Skyland Grain mobile app is compatible with both Android™ and iPhone® devices. Download the free mobile app at the App Store™ or Google Play store.

To download the app visit the app stores and search for Skyland Grain. Enhanced login and security features ensure information privacy.
